

How AI Is Changing the Hedge Fund Decision-Making Processes

FIN News recently covered TIFF's newly published white paper, Can AI Outperform Human Investors? The Hedge Fund Perspective. The article discusses some of the key ways AI is changing the investment process for hedge funds, particularly with large-scale data summaries that can be used to generate predictive signals. However, Tiff Managing Director and Head of Diversifying Strategies Zhe Shen, who authored the whitepaper and is quoted in FIN News, also cautions against overemphasizing the role of technology; ultimately, human assessments remain an essential component of fund success.

To learn more about the whitepaper's findings, read the full article here.
