TIFF Investment Management Appoints Scott Wilson to its TAS Advisory Board

Radnor, PA – April 25, 2024 – TIFF Investment Management ("TIFF"), an institutional asset management firm delivering comprehensive outsourced CIO (OCIO) and private markets solutions primarily to nonprofits announced today the appointment of Scott Wilson, Chief Investment Officer for Washington University in St. Louis to its TAS Advisory Board.

As Chief Investment Officer at Washington University, Mr. Wilson is responsible for overseeing the current and potential investment opportunities for the university's $13B endowment. Prior to joining Washington University in St. Louis in 2017, Mr. Wilson served as Chief Investment Officer for Grinnell College, Head of Interest Rate Options Trading at Barclays Capital Japan, and spent several years at Bank of America Securities as Head of EUR, GBP, and JPY Option Trading Desks. Mr. Wilson holds a Bachelor of Arts in Economics and Math from Grinnell College and attended the Master of Science program in Financial Mathematics at the University of Chicago.

Mr. Wilson's investment expertise and his extensive experience working with higher education institutions will support TIFF's custom asset allocation and portfolio construction, while also providing TIFF's investment team with market and investing insights.

TIFF's Advisory Board consists of distinguished Chief Investment Officers (CIOs) and executives from globally renowned organizations. The Advisory Board's role includes contributing to client missions, providing investment oversight, offering insights on investment strategies and reputational matters, and assessing portfolio risk management. Through their extensive investment expertise and industry connections, the Advisory Board provides TIFF and its clients with invaluable relationships within the nonprofit ecosystem.
